Effective Ship Management requires constant attention to detail. The best engineering practices, systems and controls – the highest ISM Code and ISO 9002 standards - require specialized knowledge and on-going training and development.

Algoma Central Corporation is the largest Canadian shipowner on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway.

Every day, we work to maintain and improve the performance of our Great Lakes fleet through maintenance, refits, self-unloader conversions, the application of new technology, and important environmental initiatives.

Effective Ship Management – and our practice of working to be the best – has made Algoma Central Marine the leader in Canadian Great Lakes marine transportation.
